Vendor: HP

Exam Code: HP3-X01

Exam Name: X01 - HP Desktop, Workstation & Notebook Tools and Diagnostics

Version: DEMO
1. What is required to use Desktop and Mobile Architecture for System Hardware (DASH) or HP computer systems?
   A. The system must be bootable to Windows
   B. The system must have an HP_TOOLS utility partition
   C. A specialized USB key must be connected
   D. Special DASH hardware must be built into the computer
   Answer: D

2. On which standard is Desktop and Mobile Architecture for System Hardware (DASH) based?
   A. DMTF
   B. IEEE
   C. UEFI
   D. USB 2.0
   Answer: A

3. How do you access HP System Diagnostics (UEFI) on an HP computer?
   A. Press the F2 key at the BIOS system Startup Menu
   B. Use a local CD ROM disk that contains the UEFI system files
   C. Press the F8 key after the BIOS system Startup Menu displays
   D. Navigate to the \HP_TOOLS directory of the boot disk and run SystemDiags.exe.
   Answer: A

4. How can you run HP Vision Diagnostics? (Select two)
   A. from a USB Key
   B. from a CD ROM disk
   C. as a Web-browser hosted Java application
   D. as an installed Windows executable application
   Answer: A, B

5. You are testing an HP notebook computer that displays the Windows error "Bug Check Qx7F: : UNEXPECTED KERNEL_MODE_TRAPT". What should you do?
   A. Run a memory diagnostic test
   B. Run a hard drive diagnostic test
   C. Reset the BIOS settings to factory defaults
   D. Check the system BIOS for a version update
   Answer: A